American racism traps Blacks OCo even in Africa. Prof.
Dennis chronicles the compulsive and repetitious nature of racism and its destructive effects on peoples and societies.
Dr. DennisOCO observations of the twists of irony and misplaced pride on all sides will provoke a wry smile as well as dismay. During the 1990s, Liberia descended into civil war and anarchy. African-Libertian rebel groups roamed the countryside randomly killing as they vied for power. Doe was killed by a segment of Slaves to Racism is a unique cross-racial, cross cultural approach to racism from an insider/outsider viewpoint.

Using numerous personal stories from the 1950s to today, from the American South and Midwest to Western Africa, the author displays the compulsive and repetitive nature of racism, its effect on both participant and victim, and how

In Richmond, Virginia, the two Dennis brothers became Free Negroes, each owning three or four slaves themselves. During the 1800s, they returned to Liberia, freeing their slaves and taking them with them. One of the brothers remained on the coast in the capital, Monrovia, as an Americo-Liberian. The other, knowing his Mende ancestry, traveled to the area where the Mende live in Liberia. There
