Now Teach creates a route for people with decades of experience to become teachers. Focusing primarily on STEM subjects science, maths and technology and modern foreign languages, we place teachers in partner schools, support them through their training and connect them to a professional network that amplifies their impact and

Teachers Then and Now... - The One Room Schoolhouse

Schools must now prepare our youth for a global society that is technologically advanced and economically interdependent. Teachers are charged with the task of developing communicators, problem solvers, social advocates, and techno-savvy team players. Education has become a collaborative endeavour shared amongst teachers, students, parents, principals, the community and society at large.
